- Bill 111: Sponsored by Randall

- Randall: WVFS entered the budget process in a different manner than usual, because of the fact that their budget was cut last year and COVID. They are faced with $2000 of music licensing fees and some other fees, that if they are not able to pay this year they may not be able to continue operating. As a senate, we have the ability to prevent them from going into debt and help them financially. This is a good cause and does a lot for students and the Tallahassee community.

- Hunter comments that this Bill will prevent WVFS to be shut down over $2000 and will benefit FSU and surrounding communities.

- Bill 113: Sponsored by Randall

- Randall: When I entered senate, I promised to advocate for victims of sexual assault and victims of all kinds. This bill does just that, it gives $2000 to causes that desperately need it. Victim's Advocate provides many advising, counseling, medical, and legal resources for those who find themselves victimized in any way. Their services are available 24/7 and come from local advocates who are willing to help victims in every way they can, including making house calls if needed, which many other counseling services do not. They need this money for things that people may not think of, and will allow Victim's Advocate to connect with students.

- Yields 1:37 to closing.
- Selva motions to move into roundtable. Hunter seconds.
- Selva commends the sponsor, and mentions that she graduates in 3 months and is just now learning of so many resources. These programs having outreach will be very beneficial to many students.
- Ferguson asks how these outreach efforts including posters, flyers, etc. will work with a majority of classes being held virtually and less students being present on campus.
- Randall responds that some classes will be in person continuing into next semester, and the freshman residing on campus right now and next semester will be exposed to these resources and outreach efforts, and create opportunity for freshmen to use resources that will benefit themselves and the entire student body for the remainder of their time at FSU.
- Hunter motions to call the question. Selva seconds
- Randall: Thank you for hearing this bill.
