 - Gerdts: Undecided students/students not taking a full course load
 - Dean: What would happen if there are grad students in between classes?
 - Gerdts: See section C of the proposed bill. Graduate studies is a division, and there are like 30-40 of them at FSU. Combining them with special studies would save us an extra seat, and also they are relatively in the same category
 - Gerdts: Explanation of the bill and purpose of the Ad Hoc Committee

- Blackthorne: Proposed a possible way of reserving a part of a division's seats for graduate students for a week then allowing undergrads to run if it is unfilled
- Diaz: Worries about current political parties allowing Grad Studies to run
- Gerdts: Notes that the current parties are unlikely to last forever and that parties open applications to all students.
- Guest Chabot: Do grad students have an unfair advantage if Blackthorne's changes go into effect?
- Gerdts: Definitely a conversation to have in the future
- Dean: move to call question Seconded by Daiz
